LifeStage Investment Management

Ministerial Pension Plan Account Management

The Ministerial Pension Plan (MPP) provides clergy with pension benefits for their years of service to The United Methodist Church from 1982 through 2006.*

LifeStage Investment Management manages MPP accounts separately from other Wespath-administered defined contribution accounts, such as the Clergy Retirement Security Program (CRSP) and United Methodist Personal Investment Plan (UMPIP).

As a clergyperson approaches the age at which he or she will begin receiving monthly benefits from MPP, LifeStage Investment Management reduces the percentage of equity holdings (stocks) in the individual's MPP account more rapidly than it does for other accounts.

*MPP was replaced by CRSP effective January 1, 2007. Clergy who have an MPP account continue to incur investment gains or losses on MPP account balances until benefits are paid from the plan.

Customized Fund Allocation

LifeStage Investment Management manages Ministerial Pension Plan (MPP) accounts and is one option for managing your other Wespath-administered retirement account(s). LifeStage Investment Management allocates your contributions and the contributions made on your behalf to your retirement accounts among our investment funds.

“Target fund allocation” refers to the proportions and mix of the investment funds that comprise your Wespath account balance(s). The target fund allocation, or investment mix, represents your individual investment portfolio.

It is based on:

- Your age
- The assets in your Wespath-administered retirement accounts
- Your answers to questions used to determine your LifeStage Personal Investment Profile (including risk tolerance and Social Security eligibility)
- Other factors unique to each individual participant

After determining your target fund allocation, LifeStage Investment Management manages your account automatically for you. As your age and circumstances change, LifeStage Investment Management adjusts your fund allocations accordingly. Differences in market returns may cause your individual investment fund allocations to fall outside a specified range compared to your target fund allocation. LifeStage Investment Management compares your actual fund allocations to your target fund allocations quarterly and makes changes when needed to align actual allocations with the target.

A Proven Investment Strategy Sets an Appropriate Level of Risk/Return for Your Portfolio

LifeStage Investment Management applies the principle of diversification, a proven investment strategy used by professional investors and financial planners. Diversification means spreading your account dollars among different types of U.S. and international investments, such as stocks, bonds, real estate, commodities, positive social purpose loans, venture capital and inflation protection securities, rather than investing your balances in only one fund or even in one type of investment.

LifeStage Investment Management Selects Funds for You

Using our investment funds and key information about you, LifeStage Investment Management develops your customized target fund allocation. You are not required to provide any data or take any action. However, you have the option through LifeStage Investment Management to develop a Personal Investment

Profile to fine-tune the target fund allocation created for you. To do so, you will need to answer the questions on pages 5 and 6. (See page 8 “Electing LifeStage Investment Management” for more details.)

1. What Is Your Risk Tolerance?

Investing involves risk. On one hand, if you invest too aggressively, you increase the risk of losing value in your investments because of market fluctuation.

On the other hand, if you invest too conservatively, you may risk the opportunity to accumulate gains that could have been earned from investments with higher growth potential—gains that are important for maintaining the standard of living that you had before retirement. Also, you need to protect against the risk of inflation eroding the value of your hard-earned savings, and some conservative investments do not fully protect against inflation.

The following risk descriptions are merely a guide. We recommend that you seek the advice of a professional financial planner, such as those provided through EY Financial Planning Services (see page 9), to determine your risk tolerance.

Your risk tolerance might be Conservative if you:

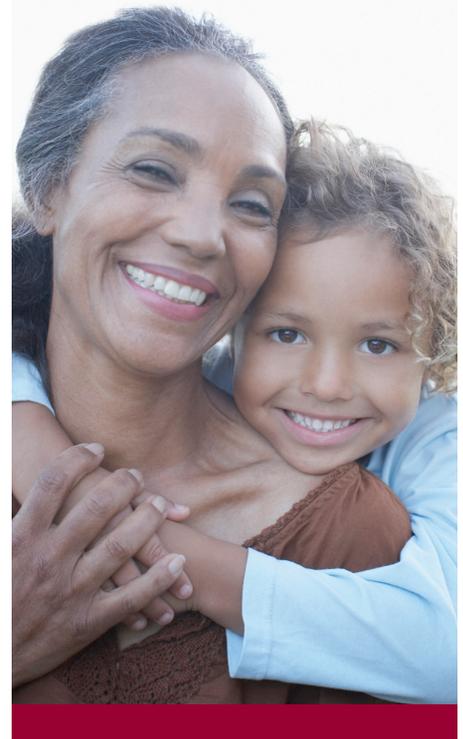

- Are willing to accept the potential for below-average investment performance in an effort to avoid higher investment risk
- Are likely to sell investments in volatile markets with rapidly fluctuating market performance, and
- Are expecting to exhaust all or most of your account balance within seven or fewer years

Your risk tolerance might be Moderate if you:

- Are willing to accept the potential for average investment performance with average investment risk
- Are willing to tolerate some modest fluctuating market performance, and
- Are expecting to exhaust all or most of your account balance within eight to 15 years

Your risk tolerance might be Aggressive if you:

- Are willing to accept the potential for above-average investment performance with above-average risk
- Are unlikely to sell investments in volatile markets with rapidly fluctuating market performance, and
- Are expecting to exhaust all or most of your account balance in 15 years or more

“Diversification” means spreading your account dollars among different types of investments.

LifeStage Investment Management

LifeStage Investment Management Allocates Your Account Balance Based on Your Personal Investment Profile

LifeStage Investment Management uses the answers to these questions and other information about you—including your actual or assumed compensation and assets you may have in other Wespath-administered retirement accounts—to determine a target fund allocation for you. If you do not answer questions in the Personal Investment Profile, LifeStage Investment Management uses a preselected profile that is appropriate for most participants: moderate risk tolerance, benefits to begin at the Social Security Normal Retirement Age (as defined by the Social Security Administration) based on year of birth, participation in Social Security and 65% annuitization of MPP balance (if applicable).

Whether you set your own variables through the Personal Investment Profile or rely on our preselected profile, there is nothing more for you to do. LifeStage Investment Management will manage the investment of your account balance(s). You may review your LifeStage Personal Investment Profile periodically and update it when appropriate.

2. How Do Social Security Benefits Impact LifeStage Investment Management?

Most participants have paid Social Security taxes and meet the qualifications (including at least 10 years in non-government work) to receive a Social Security benefit.* Your potential Social Security benefit is considered a source of retirement income by LifeStage Investment Management and factors into your target investment mix. The service assumes that the current value of your future Social Security benefit is similar to holding fixed income instruments. As a result, a higher percentage of your defined contribution account is invested in equities.

3. If You Have an MPP Account, What Is Your Expected Benefits Commencement Date—the Date on Which You Anticipate Starting Your MPP Retirement Benefits?

This variable applies only to clergy participants in MPP. Retirement age and the date you start receiving benefits aren't always the same. You may retire before or after age 65 and may choose to defer the start of your retirement benefits until a later date. The later you begin receiving benefits, the longer your investments will have an opportunity to grow.

The date on which you expect to begin receiving MPP benefits will influence how LifeStage Investment Management invests your MPP balance.

4. What Is Your Intention for the Non-Annuitized Portion of MPP?

This variable applies only to clergy participants in MPP. MPP requires that you convert 65% of your account balance to a lifetime monthly benefit payment (an "annuity"). You have options for the remaining (35%) account balance that you do not annuitize; you may keep it invested with us or withdraw all or part of the account balance.

Note: Your decision about whether you plan to continue to invest the remaining balance or withdraw it at retirement affects how LifeStage Investment Management invests your MPP balance.

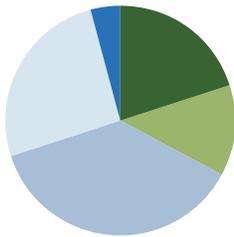

*Some United Methodist clergy do not participate in Social Security and will not receive Social Security benefits when they retire.

Is LifeStage Investment Management Right for You?

There are a number of factors to consider when deciding how to manage your defined contribution accounts.*

LifeStage Investment Management is a great way for many participants to invest their defined contribution accounts effortlessly and sensibly, but it may not be appropriate for everyone. Your defined contribution accounts might not benefit from LifeStage Investment Management if you:

- Have significant retirement resources outside of Wespath,
- Have or will receive a pension from a prior employer,
- Entered the work force relatively late in life,
- Have an illness that could shorten your life expectancy,
- Have some Social Security coverage but elected not to participate in Social Security as a clergy person, or
- Intend to use your defined contribution account balances for a purpose other than lifetime income.

Other situations could also affect whether LifeStage Investment Management is right for you. EY financial planners are available at no cost to help you determine if LifeStage Investment Management is appropriate for your defined contribution accounts (see page 9).

EY Financial Planning Services

Another way for participants to determine how to allocate their accounts among our funds is with objective advice from a qualified financial professional.

Currently, eligible participants in Wespath-administered retirement plans can receive financial planning assistance at no cost from EY, a leading global financial services firm. Participants can call EY as often as they like and spend as much time on the phone as necessary.

EY Financial Planning Services are available to:

- Active participants with an account balance,
- Surviving spouses with an account balance, and
- Terminated and retired participants with an account balance of at least $10,000.

EY financial planners have been trained in topics important to participants in Wespath-administered retirement plans, such as the clergy housing allowance, clergy tax issues, and our plans and programs. You can expect to receive objective advice—without the sales pitch. Unlike many financial planners, EY planners will never try to sell you investment products or services, because they don't offer any.

To begin using this service, just call EY directly at 1-800-360-2539 Monday through Friday between 8:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., Central time (excluding holidays).

What Information Will I Have to Provide?

EY financial planners may request personal and financial information from you that will help them address your particular financial concerns. Information you share with EY will not be shared outside EY with anyone.

What Information Will Wespath Provide?

For purposes of identification and communication, we will send EY your name, address and participant number (not your Social Security number). EY representatives will only have your account balance information if you provide it to them.

Participants can call EY as often as they like and spend as much time on the phone as necessary.

 Costs for these services are included in Wespath's operating expenses that are paid for by the funds.

Our Investment Funds

We offer diversified investment funds to eligible plan participants. All funds are carefully monitored and are administered according to the investment policy established and monitored by our Board of Directors.

The descriptions of these funds will help you make investment choices for your existing balances and future contributions to UMPIP, CRSP DC, RPGA and/or Horizon if you do not elect

LifeStage Investment Management to manage your defined contribution accounts. This is not an offer to purchase securities. Offers will only be made through the Investment Funds Description. We recommend that you consult a professional financial planner and read thoroughly the descriptions on the following pages before making investment decisions regarding the funds.

You may transfer balances from one investment fund to another.

- Your contributions (and earnings) are generally not available to you until you terminate employment or retire.
- You may change the investment of your future contributions (subject to certain limitations more fully described in the Investment Funds Description posted on our website, www.wespath.org).
- Purchase and sale transactions for all our funds (except the Stable Value Fund) are valued at the close of each business day based on the value of the investments held in each fund (see a listing of pricing holidays at our website).
- For the Stable Value Fund, each unit aims to maintain a value of $1.00 (each participant's number of units vary based on contributions, withdrawals and the performance of the fund).

All funds are subject to management and administrative fees.

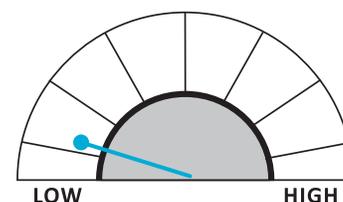

- We calculate each fund's expense ratio based on investment management fees, custodial fees, and administration and overhead expenses.
- The expense ratio may change from time to time based on the actual expenses incurred by the funds.
- No fees are charged to participants for purchasing or selling units in our funds.

The investment funds available in Wespath-administered retirement plans are intended for investors with a long-term horizon.

- Frequent fund transfers incur additional costs and conflict with the funds' investment objectives, adversely affecting the long-term investors for whom we designed the funds.
 - A participant may not purchase units in a particular fund for 60 days after selling units in the same fund (this policy applies only to interfund transfers—not to new contributions, rollovers, loans or withdrawals).
 - This policy only affects the purchase, not the sale, of fund units.
 - This policy applies to funds we offer, with the exception of the Stable Value Fund.
 - Interfund purchases of shares in the Stable Value Fund may be executed at any time.

The individual funds are profiled in the subsequent pages. Participants in UMPIP, CRSP DC, RPGA and Horizon can select from among these investment funds, or they may elect LifeStage Investment Management to choose investment fund allocations for them. Orders submitted prior to 3:00 p.m., Central time are processed at the end of the day, based on closing price. Any order received after 3:00 p.m. is processed the next business day. For detailed information about the funds, please refer to the Investment Funds Description.

RELATIVE LEVEL OF RISK COMPARED TO OTHER WESPATH FUNDS

Stable Value Fund (SVF)

Type of Fund

Actively managed fixed-income fund.

Objective

To preserve capital and earn current income.

Who Should Invest

Investors who are reluctant to risk the loss of capital contributions or accumulated interest.

Investments

The investment fund consists of a broad selection of short- and medium-term, fixed-income instruments, including U.S. government and agency bonds, corporate bonds, mortgages and asset-backed securities.

Additionally, the fund may hold insurance company issued Guaranteed Investment Contracts (GICs) or similar instruments, as well as cash equivalents.

Management

San Francisco-based BNY Mellon Cash Investment Strategies (a division of the Dreyfus Corporation and a unit of The Bank of New York Mellon Corporation) is the lead manager of the fund. Additionally, the fund engages the services of highly regarded fixed-income managers to manage a portion of the fund's assets.

Strategy

The primary objective of the Stable Value Fund (SVF) is preservation of capital while earning current income higher than that of money market funds. Accordingly, the manager will invest in a broad range of high-quality, low-risk, fixed-income instruments. These include U.S. government and agency bonds, corporate bonds, mortgages, asset-backed securities and other similar types of investments.

The manager will contract with highly rated insurance companies, which will provide the principal protection feature that assures participants can transfer or withdraw the value of all contributions and accumulated interest.

The insurance contracts provide protection of principal from changes in interest rates, but they do not insure against a loss of principal value resulting from a negative credit event on behalf of the issuers of the underlying securities. A list of insurance companies used by SVF is available on our website at www.wespath.org/investments/funds/stable-value-fund-insurance-contracts/.

We will price this fund consistent with standard industry pricing practices for money market funds. It will aim to maintain a constant unit price of $1.00 and credit participants with interest at month end.

Each month, we post the interest rate earned by the fund during the previous month on our website.

Performance Benchmark

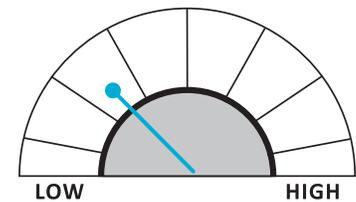

B of A Merrill Lynch Wrapped 1-5 Year Corporate/ Government Index.

Expense Ratio

All expenses of the fund are paid directly out of SVF. The expenses include investment management fees, operating expenses, bank custodial fees and miscellaneous fund administration expenses. SVF's expenses in 2015 were approximately 0.33% of the fund's total assets.

SVF Risk Disclosures

For more detailed information regarding the investments of SVF and the inherent risks thereof, please see the Investment Funds Description, available at www.wespath.org/assets/1/7/3052.pdf.

Fixed-income, inflation-protected securities fund.

Objective

Who Should Invest

Investors who wish to attain long-term protection from the loss of purchasing power due to inflation but are willing to incur some short-term losses of principal.

The investment portfolio consists primarily of U.S. and international government-issued inflation-protected securities, which are designed to protect investors from inflation and are normally backed by the credit of the issuing government. The fund employs a blended approach of passive and active investment management. For the passively managed component, the fund's manager attempts to match the return of the performance benchmark. For the active management component, the Fund's manager(s) exercise(s) professional judgment to seek attractively valued investments that, in their opinion, represent good long-term investment opportunities.

Performance Benchmark

Expense Ratio

All expenses of the fund are paid directly by IPF, and are reflected in the unit price calculated for the fund. The expenses include investment management fees, operating expenses, bank custodial fees and miscellaneous fund administration expenses. The unit price is multiplied by the number of units held in each participant's account to determine the total value of the participant's holdings in the fund. IPF's expenses in 2015 were equal to approximately 0.56% of the fund's total assets.

Fund composed of a broad range of fixed-income instruments.

Objective

To earn current income by investing in a diversified mix of fixed-income instruments.

Who Should Invest

Investors who seek a greater portion of their investment return from current income and are willing to incur short-term losses for the potential of modest capital appreciation.

Investments

The fund is primarily composed of a broad range of fixed-income instruments, such as U.S. Treasury and agency securities, foreign government bonds, corporate bonds, mortgage-backed securities and asset-backed securities. The fund may hold up to 20% in fixed-income securities with a below investment-grade rating and up to 20% in fixed-income securities denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. The fund will also hold mortgages and other types of loans initiated through our Positive Social Purpose Lending Program.

Management

Approximately nine different investment management firms we selected manage the assets of FIF. Additionally, our internal management team is responsible for managing approximately 15% of the fund invested in our Positive Social Purpose Lending Program. A complete list of investment management firms is available at www.wespath.org/investments/managers.

Strategy

FIF seeks high current income while preserving capital. FIF employs a blended approach of enhanced passive and active investment management. For the enhanced passive management component, the fund's manager attempts to slightly exceed the performance of the benchmark. Expense Ratio

All expenses of the fund are paid directly by FIF, and are reflected in the unit price calculated for the fund. The expenses include investment management fees, operating expenses, bank custodial fees and miscellaneous fund administration expenses. The unit price is multiplied by the number of units held in each participant's account to determine the total value of the participant's holdings in the fund. FIF's expenses in 2015 were equal to approximately 0.55% of the fund's total assets.

FIF Risk Disclosures

For more detailed information regarding the investments of FIF and the inherent risks thereof, please see the Investment Funds Description, available at www.wespath.org/assets/1/7/3052.pdf.

Extended Term Fixed Income Fund (ETFIF)

Type of Fund

Fund composed of a broad range of fixed-income instruments with longer-term maturities.

Objective

To earn current income and provide exposure to long term interest rates by primarily investing in a broad mix of longer-term fixed-income instruments.

Who Should Invest

Investors with a longer investment time horizon who seek a greater portion of their investment return from current income rather than capital appreciation but exhibit a willingness to incur the risk of loss due to the fund's greater sensitivity to changes in market interest rates.

Investments

The fund is primarily composed of long-term fixed income securities, such as U.S. Treasury and agency securities, foreign government bonds, corporate bonds, mortgage-backed securities and asset-backed securities. ETFIF also may hold participation interests in loans secured by mortgages and other types of loan participations initiated through our Positive Social Purpose Lending Program. At its inception and for a period of time thereafter, we will seek to reduce the sensitivity to market interest rate changes, but not eliminate them.

Management

Approximately four different investment management firms we selected manage the assets of ETFIF. A complete list of investment management firms is available at www.wespath.org/investments/managers.

Strategy

ETFIF seeks high current income while preserving capital. ETFIF employs a blended approach of enhanced passive and active investment management. RELATIVE LEVEL OF RISK COMPARED TO OTHER WESPATH FUNDS

Multiple Asset Fund (MAF)

Type of Fund

Diversified multiple-asset-class “fund of funds.”

Objective

To attain current income and capital appreciation by investing in a broad mix of different types of investments.

Who Should Invest

Investors with relatively long time horizons who seek long-term investment growth and income from exposure to a broadly diversified portfolio of assets. Investors should be willing to experience some fluctuations in the unit price of the fund, though generally not as much as from holding a fund composed exclusively of common stocks.

Investments

Prespecified mix of units of our funds: 10% IPF, 25% FIF, 40% USEF and 25% IEF.

Management

Through its investment in other funds, MAF participates in the management styles of more than 30 different investment management firms we selected. Additionally, through its investment in FIF, MAF participates in investments we manage.

Strategy

The prespecified allocation of the underlying funds closely adheres to the long-term strategic asset allocation established by our Board of Directors. Market fluctuations may cause the actual

MAF asset allocation to not conform to the prespecified mix. We will rebalance MAF back to the prespecified mix when the actual holdings fall outside of a prespecified range.

IPF holdings will be rebalanced when they fall outside of a range of 8-12% of MAF; FIF holdings will be rebalanced when they fall outside of a range of 23-27% of MAF; USEF holdings will be rebalanced when they fall outside of a range of 37-43% of MAF; and IEF holdings will be rebalanced when they fall outside of a range of 23-27% of MAF. During aberrant market conditions, we may temporarily elect to suspend rebalancing back to the prespecified mix. We will resume rebalancing once market conditions have improved.

The underlying funds employ a combination of active and passive (index) strategies. Generally, MAF will have significant passive index exposure to large company U.S. stocks and will use active management in markets in which it is perceived that active decisions will create additional value.

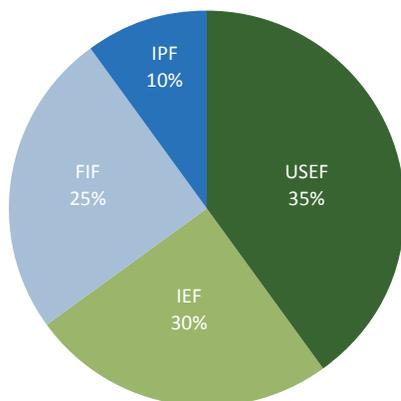

Performance Benchmark

The fund uses a blended benchmark to measure its performance. The benchmark includes the following:

- 35% Russell 3000 Index
- 30% Morgan Stanley Capital International All Country World Index (MSCI ACWI) ex-USA IMI
- 25% Barclays Capital U.S. Universal Index excluding Mortgage-Backed Securities
- 10% Barclays Capital U.S. Government Inflation Linked Bond Index

MAF Predefined Asset Allocation

Multiple Asset Fund (MAF)

Expense Ratio

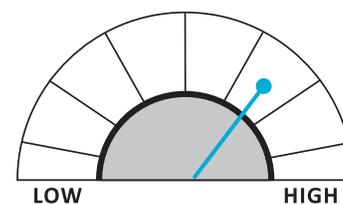

Since MAF is a “fund of funds,” it does not directly pay expenses. MAF pays expenses indirectly through its holdings in USEF, IEF, FIF and IPF. All expenses of the fund are reflected in the unit price calculated for the fund. The expenses include investment management fees, operating expenses, bank custodial fees and miscellaneous fund administration expenses. The unit price is multiplied by the number of units held in each participant’s account to determine the total value of the participant’s holdings in the fund. MAF’s expenses in 2015 were equal to approximately 0.64% of the fund’s total assets.

MAF Risk Disclosures

For more detailed information regarding the investments of MAF and the inherent risks thereof, please see the Investment Funds Description, available at www.wespath.org/assets/1/7/3052.pdf.

RELATIVE LEVEL OF RISK COMPARED TO OTHER WESPATH FUNDS

U.S. Equity Fund (USEF)

Type of Fund

Equity fund composed of a broad range of companies that are domiciled primarily in the United States.

Objective

To attain long-term capital appreciation available from a broadly diversified portfolio that primarily includes equities of the 3,000 largest U.S.-domiciled publicly owned companies.

Who Should Invest

Investors who seek long-term investment growth through exposure to the broad U.S. equity market and who are willing to accept the risk of wide fluctuations in the unit price of the fund.

Investments

The fund's investments consist primarily of equity securities of companies based in the United States. The fund may also invest in U.S. shares of companies domiciled outside the United States. The fund will hold equity index futures to maintain exposure to the U.S. public equities market.

In addition, a portion of USEF may invest in publicly traded real estate investment trusts (REITs), private equity partnerships and private real estate partnerships.

Management

More than 15 different investment management firms we selected manage the assets of USEF. A complete list of investment management firms is available at www.wespath.org/investments/managers.

Strategy

The fund employs a blended use of passive and active investment management. For passive management, the fund includes investments that are designed to closely match the performance of various indexes representing different market segments. An index fund holds all, or a representative sample, of the securities that make up its target market index.

For active management, the fund employs different investment management firms to make decisions about the fund's investments. The fund relies on the professional judgment of its investment managers to seek investments in attractively valued companies that, in their opinion, represent good long-term investment opportunities. The fund primarily employs investment managers that will accomplish this objective through fundamental analysis, including meeting with company executives and employees, suppliers, customers and competitors.

Performance Benchmark

Russell 3000 Index.
